“...a beautifully inventive and explorative work. Germana’s light and graceful vocals weaving in and out throughout as she skillfully interacts with the musicians.” - Mala Waldron

“...Her latest album ‘Vapour’ is very heartfelt, warm and delivers. This album definitely takes you on a journey propelled by the great musicianship from the rest of her ensemble.” - Tony Kofi

Album Description:

With her debut album “Vapour”, Italian Jazz Singer and Storyteller Germana Stella La Sorsa has set out to break down both aesthetic and musical jazz conventions in a melting pot of styles.

After relocating from Puglia to London, Germana’s unique talent was quickly recognised leading to performances at some of the most prestigious London jazz venues.

The move to London inspired La Sorsa to compose new material and this creative impetus eventually led to the composition of much of the music on her debut album: Vapour.

In its style and conception, the music is very eclectic, crossing the boundaries of genre but steeped in modern sounds with a nod to the avant-garde. Recorded with a Hammond Trio, Germana has channeled a wide range of influences into a contemporary jazz album that includes the music of Frank Zappa and Hermeto Pascoal.

The tunes are full of heavy grooves and rich in electrifying moments with captivating melodies enhanced by Germana’s distinctive instrumental use of her voice, coloured with effects and harmonies.

Germana entered the studio together with long time collaborator Sam Leak on Hammond organ and heavy weight stalwarts of the London jazz scene Nick Costley-White on guitar and Jay Davis on drums.

Together they have created a modern, open and sophisticated album, fully tuned in to the current wave of contemporary UK jazz.
